Policies

Course Eligibility

As part of the semester application process, students complete a Program Approval Form where they list the preferred classes they would like to take as well as alternatives. Students must list alternative courses as a precautionary measure so that they will have options in the event that a preferred course is not available upon arrival abroad. Academic advisors review course selections and approve students to take the course listed by signing the Program Approval Form. Please note: Students are ONLY approved to take the courses listed on the Program Approval Form. If class schedules change while abroad it is the students' responsibility to inform their academic advisor and their study abroad advisor. If students do not inform these offices there is a chance that no credit will be given for courses not listed on the Program Approval Form.

Course Pre-Requisites

It is the students' responsibility to review ALL course pre-requisites in the Undergraduate Bulletin before enrolling in a course abroad. While the Office of International Studies Abroad lists pre-requisites on the Pre-Approved Course List, it is the students' responsibility to view course pre-requisites in the Undergraduate Bulletin as these may change over time. Students should note the following:

- The Office of International Studies Abroad adheres to pre-requisites as determined by each academic department at USD.
- If a study abroad course has a USD course equivalent with a pre-requisite (which is outlined on the Pre-Approved Course List or in the Undergraduate Bulletin), students are required to meet this pre-requisite prior to taking the course. No exceptions.
- If students enroll in a course without meeting the pre-requisite(s), the course will not transfer back to USD. No exceptions.

Restriction by Major/Residency Requirement

Some majors/minors have mandated that a minimum number of upper-division units must be taken on USD's campus. This will impact the number of units that can be taken abroad (off-campus). Details can be found in the Undergraduate Bulletin (Arts & Sciences; School of Business Administration; SOLES). It is the student's responsibility to check with their academic advisor about how study abroad fits in to their declared major and to ensure that they meet these minimum residency requirements (the minimum number of upper-division units that must be taken on the USD campus). It is recommended that students take a wide variety of disciplines abroad that will allow students to meet an array of graduation requirements.

Languages Courses Abroad

The Office of International Studies Abroad adheres to the Language Placement Policy as outlined by the Languages & Literatures department. If students would like to take a language course abroad, they are required to meet all pre-requisites before enrolling in the course. If a student has not taken any language at USD and would like to enroll in a language course abroad, they are required to take USD's placement exam. The results of this exam will determine which level the student is eligible to enroll in. Students who take language courses abroad and have not met the USD language pre-requisites (via placement exam or course) will not be able to transfer these courses to USD.

Approving Courses for Credit

Each course taken abroad is carefully reviewed by a USD Department Chair to determine course transferability. The Office of International Studies Abroad has a database of pre-approved courses for each program and these pre-approved courses can be found on the brochure page of each program. In determining the courses students would like to take abroad (and list on their Program Approval Form where their academic advisor approves them), students should do the following:

- Refer to the host institution's website (accessed from the program brochure page) for a list of courses that are offered during the term they wish to study abroad.
- Compare the current course offering on the host institution's website pre-approved course list (accessed from the program brochure page) to determine if the courses they would like to take have been pre-approved. If they courses have been pre-approved, then students can proceed to list these courses (along with their USD equivalents) on their program approval form.

If students find a course on the host institution's website that has not been pre-approved, the Office of International Studies Abroad will assist the student in processing the course review. To initiate the course review process, students need to contact the appropriate International Studies Abroad Advisor to inform him/her of the class(es) for which they are seeking evaluation.

NOTE: Completion of these steps does not guarantee course approval. All affiliated courses must meet USD standards. USD credit will not be granted for non-approved courses.

current schedule, and .

5. Apply to a study abroad program

To apply for a study abroad program, click on the “Apply Now” button located on the program page. Follow the instructions to create a personal homepage by logging in with USD MySanDiego login and password.

6. Complete the Application Process

On your personal homepage you will see a checklist of items that need to be completed. In addition to a non-refundable application fee, there are three types of documents that must be submitted: material submissions, signature documents, and questionnaires.

Material Submissions: Documents that must be printed and submitted directly to the USD International Center.

Signature Documents: Documents must be viewed and read online and electronically signed stating acceptance and understanding of each document.

Questionnaires: Online questions that provide additional information.

Within your home page, please click on each document for instructions and details. You can only apply to two programs per term. Please keep in mind that you are responsible for meeting application deadlines (link to deadlines page). Please read and follow all instructions carefully. Every item listed on your applicant home page is necessary in order for your application to be complete.

Deadlines are firm and you must submit all pre-decision application pieces in order for your application to be reviewed. To see if you have submitted all necessary documents, review the checklist on your homepage.

7. Login and Check for Updates

After you have completed the application, check your homepage and USD e-mail on a regular basis for reminders of items that you have not yet submitted. You can check and manage your homepage anytime by clicking on "Login" in the upper right hand corner of the page. If you have questions, please contact an International Studies Abroad Advisor.

Program Acceptance and Commitment

Students are accepted to study abroad programs on a rolling basis. The Program Acceptance and Commitment Policy outlines this process and implications. Students are held accountable to this timeline.

After students' status has been changed to “Accepted”, post-decision items will populate in the online application. These items include material submissions (items that need to be physically submitted to the International Center), signature documents, and questionnaires. Students need to complete these by dates indicated by their study abroad program advisor (check for due dates). NOTE TO STUDENTS: Although students may be accepted to a study abroad program, they should not purchase a flight until notified to do so by a study abroad advisor.

Once accepted to a program, please be sure to follow the steps below to make sure you receive all pertinent information related to your study abroad program:

Complete post-acceptance application items via the online application portal

Attend pre-departure meetings (scheduled with the study abroad program advisor)

Read and become familiar with the Post-Acceptance Information page

Course Selection/Course Transferability

The USD International Center takes great care in promoting programs that offer quality courses in line with USD standards. Each course taught abroad has been reviewed and approved by USD Faculty Department Chairs. There are currently hundreds of study abroad courses that have been pre-approved, making the transfer of credit a seamless process. When choosing courses abroad, please adhere to the following steps:

1. Visit the web site for your study abroad program and view the available courses offered during the term you will be studying abroad.
2. Cross-reference the list of courses in the term you will be abroad with the list of pre-approved courses found on the program page for your study abroad location.
3. Select courses that have been pre-approved at USD and make sure that they will be offered abroad during the time you will be studying abroad.
4. If there is a course you wish to take abroad that is NOT on the pre-approved course list for your program site, contact your study abroad advisor for assistance. Don't be discouraged if the course you want to take is not currently on the pre-approved course list. Your study abroad advisor will work on your behalf on the course evaluation process.
